Chalice and Opening Words

Check-in/sharing

Reading/Topic:

"Humans are glorious and happy not by what they have, but by what they are. They can receive nothing better or nobler than the unfolding of their own spiritual nature." [William Ellery Channing]

Questions for Discussion:

Do you agree with Channing? Does your "stuff" make you happy. (Some might and some might not.) Do you make you happy? What would it take for you to be glorious and happy in your life?

Closing

Let us leave today with this intention: That the next time we are compelled to acquire something, we will ask ourselves whether it will make us happy three months from now. If not, we will leave it alone.
